

Using Hamming net in a hand-written text recognition

Annotation

Oleg Petšjonkin

Hamming net consists of two layers. Each layer has m neurons, where m is number of patterns. First layer neurons have n synapses, which are connected to input. First layer purpose is to calculate Hamming distance between each pattern and input. Second layer takes Hamming distances as input and finds maximum. As a result we have pattern number, which is mostly like input.