What and why
Web platform for Autism Society of Tallinn and Harju County. Families with kids who have an autistic spectrum need a lot of support. The biggest non-material help you can give them is the knowledge they are not alone in this fight. The new web platform will need to be a community space, where people can share their stories and seek help when needed. The web-platform is a place where the support-group meetings and other community events are organised. In addition, it should give an information for those, who are not familiar with autism as well as those who just got diagnosed and does not know what to do about it. The donations process should be made easier too. More concrete needs will be talked through during regular three-part meetings.

Support and coaching from Catapult Labs team
We are ready to coach you throughout the whole process and guide through the most difficult parts. We are also taking the responsibility of organising the three-party meetings (you, Autism Society and Catapult Labs) in order to reach the best understanding of client needs. The meetings are possible to be held both in Tallinn and Tartu. To make it as close to real life project execution as possible, you will get an access to our JIRA. You will need to organise yourself in a SCRUM or KANBAN team in order to structure your work. We will coach you on the methodology if needed.

Intellectual Property?
As it is a charity project, we will not claim any intellectual property on it. The platform will. Be completely left to the Autism Society of Tallinn and Harju County. You can say you did it as many times as you want 😊

Check their current website. THEY REALLY NEED A NEW ONE!
